He played Rolls and William, in "Black Eyed sman," and was presented with a silver below. He is oing to the United States. The people of Mozart's native own, Salphurg, on the Tyrol, having lately get up a grand emmemoration fastival of the composer, at the "birth-towns," exhibited, amongst other valuable relice which ormsrly belonged to the composer's sister, Maria Anna forart, (afterwards Madame Sonnesburg), two violus equesible to her by her brother. Upon one (a very mail one) Mozart played his first leasons. The maker's mane was Maier, of Salphurg, the date 1746. The other, full sized instrument, by Jacob Stainer (1659), was used by Mozart for sole and quartet; playing.

Mr. James F. Murdoch made his first appearance before a London audience at the Haymarket theatre, on the 22d deptember, as young Mirabel, in the "Inconstant." Inconstant." Jost now has been to introduce an American actor of acknowledged ame for the first time to a London audience. Mr. Murloch, we learn from a "memoir" which has been published, has graduated in every domain of the stage, and has been successful in each. That he is an retist as well as an actor is evident, but a certain heavisess of voice, and uspliant, inclusio style of manner, would seem to naturally until him for such parts as Mirabel, the gay, recktess rake, whose animals pirits and hilarity are chiefly in the ascendant, and who represents the type of which Elliston and Charles Kemble were the most finished exponents. Hence it was, in the last scene—that in which the "inconstant" hero finds himselfin the deadig grasp of the bagnio bullies, and only releases himself by his presence of mind and assumption of pleasantry and vivacity —that he was the most successful. We have soldom wincessed anything better than his delineation of hysterical joy when the soldiers arrive, and his forced effort to appear unconcerned. Nothing abler could have been wished for; and it brought the curtain down in triumph.
Mr. Murdoch was recalled with enthusiasm; for the imreasion that he had made upon the speciators was undoubtedly real. Nevertheless we shall be glad to see tim in other parts—parts of more essential weight and reavity, wherein we conceive he is more likely to shine —before we join in the verdict of satisfaction which the unbille last night so unequivocally expressed.

Hardly a week passes in which drama or opera, player ranger, author or idea monger, do not figure in the aw courts of Paris, but of late the trials have been more numerous than ever. Reserving the procest Locome for a separate notice, we may for the moment advert to the recent dispute between Signor Liguroro and the present nanagement of the Italian Opera at Paris, which has alten fright, it seems, at the contract entered nic by: it redeceasor, to produce a certain "Trilogia Datesca," he smbitious nature of which composition has been already adverted to in the Athericana. Signor de Liguror apphed for damages, or "pressure from above," to competite new management to bring his work to light. The court decided on awarding Signor de Liguror 530 of damages against Signor Saivi, the ex-manager, by whom the contract was made; but condemned him to bear the expense of the action against M. Caizado. Signor Saivi's successor. The proprietor had got £50 into arrears with his authors, and was visited accordingly. A third rial, setting forth the serves of collaboration, is more French and currous even than these. HORRIBLE OUTRAGE AT THE CLINTON PRISON.—
We have just learned some particulars of an outrage, perpetrated by a negro convict at the Clinton Prison, which discloses a looseness of management on the part of the officers of that institution, which deserves the severest public censure. Among the convicts confined in this prison are two or three negroes, who, it seems, have been the especial pets of some of the officers connected with the prison. The negroes have been accorded a liberty and freedom, during their terms of imprisonment, wholly incompatible with the requirements of public justice. They have seted as waiters, servants and menials to the officers of the prison, and, we are told, have been frequently permitted to go outside of the picket walls of the prison, to run of errands for the officers, and to do other outside service for the benefit of those connected in official capacities with the prison. Indeed, it is asserted that the very negro who committed the outrage which we publish below, has, on one or nore occasions, accompanied those connected with the prison on fishing and pleasure excursions into the wilderness, acting in the capacity of servant and waiter to these officers. A few nights since one of these per negroes, who seems to have enjoyed the freedom of the pracor rather extensively, walked outsice of the picket walls to enjoy his evening perambulations. This negro had been sentenced for four years, and the term of imprisonment did not express when the prison was the residence of the Sergeant of the Guard, who was then on duty within the prison medid not express who have enjoyed the freedom of the process of the Guard, who was then on duty within the prison medid not express of ace), and committed a horrible outrage upon her person. The negro proceeded to this house, and made a foreible entrance for rape before he left the premises. After the negro had perpetrated these attrodities he returned to the prison, went inside the waits as usual, and went to his ordinary pla

Common Pleas.

Before Hon. Judge Daly.

THE DESPUTED JURISDICTION OF THE COMMON PLEAS.

OCT. 10 — Edward Hore. Assignee of Patrick Murray.

Joseph Hum. — This action was brought by the plaintiff, as assignee of one Patrick Murray, for the amount of the invoices of goods. consisting of oreckery ware, consigned to Joseph Humi, the detendant, to be sold by him on commission, and the proceeds to be remitted to Murray, the consigner, deducting reasonable commissions therefor, two and a half per cent. The aggregate amount of the proceeds restized upon these goods, at auction, was $720 04. The defendant dented the consignent of these goods to him, and insisted that they were consigned to a man by the name of Sbirley, as suctioneer. But it was proved on the part of plainting that defendant, Hust, accepted an order of the consignor, thuray, and paid on account of that order from the proceeds of these goods $250. The detendant, by H V. Vultes, his counsel, then sot up a judgmant of the farine Court showing that this action had been previously tried before Judge Phillips, and a verdict rendered in favor of and Hunt, the defendant, and that, he insisted, was conclusive upon the plaintiff in the action; and that atthough the Court of Common Pleas reversed that judgment, they had no jurisdiction so to do. Mesers. C W. Sandford and B. L. Billings, counsel for the plaintiff, contended that the Court of Common Pleas had jurisdiction, and were right in reversing the judgment of the Marine Court for the errors there committed. The Judge agreed with the plaintiff's counsel, and stated that it could form no part of this case under the pleadings, and charged the jury that if they believed that the defendant undertook to become responsible upon the consignment of the goods, and that he had not paid over the amount of sales, and that the assignment of the claim to the plaintiff in the action was bone fide, that the plaintiff ought to recover. The jury rendered a vardet for the plaintiff for $864 11.

The Chicago Elopement Case—Arrest of the Parties.

[From the Boston Journal, Oct. 6.]

Some weeks since a man named Moses W. Hawkes, who was a partner in the jewelry business in Chicago with — Griswold, left that city in company with the wife. Mrs. Jane Louise Griswold, and two children of Mr. Griswold's, by his concent, and with the understanding that he (Hawkes) should conduct the woman and children safely to her father?'s residence in Connecticut. Instead of fainfally performing that mission, Hawkes and Mrs. G. passing as man and write, took a trip through Canada and New York, and last week arrived at the Norfolk House, Rozbury. Mr G. learning of the whereabouts of his wife, took the necessary measures to have Hawkes arrested on a charge of adultary, and last evening both Hawkes and Mrs. G. were arrested and brought to the Second station house in this city, where the injured husband met them. Upon Mr. G.'s entering the station bouse, Hawkes had the audelity of the station house, Hawkes had the audelity of the salutation Griswold, of course, resented. It is stated that Mr. Griswold took Hawkes as his pariner in business, without his furnishing a ceat of capital. Mr. G. had sufficient confidence in the bonner of Hawkes to entrust his wife and children to his (Hawkes') care. The parties will probably be examined before the Police Court this alternacon.

A NEW PHASE IN THE CASE—THE TABLES TURNED. [From the Boston Herald, Oct. 7.]

The upshot of the elopement of Mr. Hawkes with the wife of his former pariner in business, Mr. Griswold, appears to have turned the tables completely. Hawkes is now at liberty, and the injured husband is under arrest. This remarkable state of things has been brought about by numerous consultations among legal advisors, and the sudden appearance of the creditors of the
